ABOUT THE LANGLEY SENIOR RESOURCES SOCIETY

For over 40 years, the Langley Senior Resources Society (LSRS) has provided social, recreational and educational programs and food, health and supportive services for adults 50 years of age and older in Langley. We own and operate the largest, free-standing and independently owned recreation centre in BC and operate the largest Adult Day Program in Fraser Health. We are a community leader on issues important to seniors.

LSRS is a non-profit charitable organization governed by a volunteer Board of Directors with the day-to-day operations managed through the Executive Director, staff and volunteers. LSRS employs 55+ staff and benefits from the time and talents of over 180 volunteers. We strive to meet the growing needs of seniors in our community.

VISION

An inclusive community where seniors in Langley are valued and supported to learn, socialize, and thrive.

MISSION

As leaders in our community, we provide programs, services, and connection through a holistic approach to meet the emotional, physical, and social needs of seniors and their families.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

As we welcome the month of May, I find myself reflecting on the quiet strength and resilience that defines our community. Even in challenging times, you continue to show up for one another with kindness, patience, and care. That spirit is the foundation of everything we do, and I am deeply grateful for your ongoing commitment to supporting seniors in our community. Thank you for being part of the LSRS community and for all the ways you support one another.

Kate Ludlam,
Executive Director,
LSRS

This spring, we are launching a new fundraising campaign called A Place to Sit. Our goal is to raise $25,000 to replace the aging and well-worn chairs in our Adult Day Program and Recreation Center. These spaces are vital hubs of connection, comfort, and dignity for the people we serve – whether it be a card game or BINGO, for a recreation program, or just a social visit. Something as simple as a safe, comfortable chair can make a meaningful difference in someone's day. We hope you will consider contributing to this effort.

In addition, I invite you to think about joining us as a monthly donor. Monthly giving provides predictable and sustainable funding that allows us to plan ahead, respond to emerging needs, and continue delivering high-quality programs without interruption. It is one of the most impactful ways to support our work over the long term.

I'm also pleased to share some exciting news from Creekside Café. Starting April 23, the café will now be open on Saturdays, creating more opportunities for gathering and connection. Even better, breakfast will now be served every day. Whether you stop in for a warm meal or a friendly conversation, our Creekside Café continues to be a welcoming space for all.

As our organization continues to grow and to respond to increasing needs, we remain firmly committed to managing our resources responsibly and thoughtfully. We recognize that these are economically challenging times for many, and we take seriously our responsibility to steward every dollar with care and transparency.

Finally, as the days grow longer and the air warmer, I encourage you to take a moment to enjoy the simple joys of the spring season – sunlight, fresh blooms, and time spent with others. These small moments matter more than ever.

Parking at Langley Senior Resources Society

Many of our members have mobility issues and require the parking spots at our centre. To help out, we request that if you are able to please take advantage of street parking on 51B Avenue or 205A Street. There is also parking at the Al Anderson Pool, Blacklock Elementary (outside school hours), and the Langley City Park lot.

Taking a fitness class? Consider parking a bit further and using it as a warm-up / cool-down! Dropping off at the Tuk Shop? Park temporarily at the side door and unloading with cart and then proceed to park on street if you are able.

Thank you for your consideration!

Meet Judy!

This month, we are delighted to highlight Judy, a dedicated volunteer who has been with LSRS since November 2023.

Bringing a strong background in administration from her pre-retirement career, Judy joined our team as an Office/Admin Assistant supporting Volunteer Services. She quickly became an invaluable contributor, playing a key role in implementing our new volunteer database, Better Impact.

Judy has also demonstrated remarkable adaptability—stepping in to support our fundraising team during a leave of absence, where she quickly learned and worked with the DonorPerfect system.

Her passion for learning and commitment to giving back are evident in all that she does. Beyond LSRS, Judy has been a long-time volunteer with the Langley Christmas Bureau since 2007 and Canadian Blood Services since 2019.

Judy truly embodies the spirit of altruism, and we are incredibly grateful to have her as part of our community.

Moms Worry So We Don't Have To

As a mother and her son were leaving a restaurant the other day, he gave her a hug and said, "You worry too much Mom!" Holy smokes, where would be if Moms didn't worry, if they didn't fret and stew and wring their hands? What if moms didn't wrap their fears and anxieties for us in their prayers or scold us and counsel us for our own good? The world would be a mess if moms didn't worry.

Moms know that team pictures are at 10 AM at one park and the game is on the same day at 2PM across town. If Moms didn't worry about how we smelled or how we looked, hockey socks and gloves would rot in hockey bags and baseball uniforms would be one huge grass stain by the third game of the season.

Moms know when the dentist and eye appointments are and that the orthodontist is in a different building than the regular dentist. If moms didn't keep track of how often we practiced there would be a lot less singers and fewer pianists.

Remember when you used to come home after midnight? You could usually guarantee two things, Dad was sound asleep and mom was up.

I suppose it all started when she found out she was going to be a mom. There was a lot to worry about then. What were the right foods to eat, how much exercise should she get? Would there be weight gain or morning sickness, would the baby come premature or would it be overdue?

Yes, moms know when there is trouble at school or on the team or in the marriage. They intuitively know when something is wrong no matter how far away we are from them. They will quietly agonize over our trials and tribulations until they can nervously broach the subject at what always seems to be just the right time. That's usually just before Dad says, 'Huh, what's this all about?'

Happy Mother's Day to all the mothers out there, and thanks for all your prayers and encouragement.

Get back to gardening after mobility loss

(NC) Whether it's due to arthritis, a life event or another cause, losing mobility can be a difficult adjustment. It can make simple but meaningful activities like gardening seem suddenly out of reach.

Here are some ways you can reclaim independence in your outdoor space:

Use safe techniques and posture. Avoid putting too much pressure or load on your smaller joints whenever possible. For instance, grabbing or pruning by pinching puts much more load on your thumb than the rest of your hand.

When lifting, put the load on your biggest, strongest joints, and use both hands whenever you can. Instead of lifting with your fingers, hook your palms, forearms or even elbows through handles, and always lift by bending at the knees, not the back.

Switch to more ergonomic tools. When choosing tools, look for lighter options— heavier tools take more muscle work and put more strain on the small joints in your hands.

By using tools designed to be user-friendly, you can do the same job with less effort and strain.

For example, a shovel that has a soft handle can be easier for someone with arthritis to use because the softer material reduces strain on the wrist. Kneeling on a cushion or strapping on knee pads will reduce strain on your knee joints, as well as fatigue.

Adapt your garden to be more accessible. Bending over for long periods to work in soil beds that are at ground level adds a lot of strain. One solution is to consider using tall planters that you're able to work in while standing or sitting in a tall chair or stool.

You can also consider using fabric planters. They're lighter than clay or plastic, even with wet soil, and many have broad handles on each side to move them more easily. You can place them on a bench or table so you can work without having to bend over. They're also easy to empty by flipping inside-out for quick mid-season transitions.

RESOURCES SOCIETY

Our parking lot at Langley Seniors Centre fills up quickly, and we'd love your help keeping it accessible for everyone. If you can, please consider one of these easy alternatives

- Carpool with friends or neighbours.
- Take transit — there's a convenient bus stop right outside our doors.
- Walk if you're nearby — add some fresh air and movement to your day!
- Cycle — healthy, economical, and we always have space for bikes.
- Plan ahead — consider arriving a little earlier or later to avoid peak times.
- Use nearby street parking where permitted and safe to do so.

A Message from Mayor Eric Woodward Township of Langley

After years of advocacy and delays, transit service is finally coming for the businesses and employees of Gloucester Industrial Estates. The first proposed route would run east-west along 56th Avenue to Langley Centre, improving service for Salmon River residents as well. In addition to this first route, we need to see a direct connection to downtown Aldergrove and the Carvolth Transit Exchange as well, so workers can access Gloucester from throughout the region.

For many years, business and property owners in Gloucester have been collectively taxed upwards of $2.5 million+ per year to TransLink on their annual property taxes, despite having no transit service. As approved by the Mayors' Council on Regional Transportation, we finally addressed this in the TransLink 2025 Investment Plan. It's now moving forward to public consultation.

There are significant benefits:

- Employers in Gloucester will have a larger potential pool of employees that can now use transit to get to work.
- Many industrial workers start early, finish late, and often need transit to lower transportation costs many cannot afford. This helps working people that need transit service, especially to where jobs are, reducing the reliance on driving as the only option.
- Fairness for property owners and businesses that are paying for transit service within the property taxes, a property tax system that ignores whether or not a property has access to transit service of any kind.

It's great to have this done, specifically included within the TransLink 2025 Investment Plan, working with my colleagues on the Mayors' Council. We finally have transit service to Gloucester Industrial Estates, almost done.

Warm regards,

Eric Woodward
Mayor, Township of Langley

Temporary fuel surcharge coming to bus trips

This information is from our bus trip partner Enjoy the Journey

We would like to share an important update regarding a temporary fuel surcharge of $5.00 per person, which will apply to tours operating between April 27 and September 7.

As many of you have seen in the news, fuel prices have remained elevated. We have worked hard to absorb these increases for as long as possible, but in order to continue providing the high level of service and experience our guests value, we now need to introduce this small adjustment.

We truly appreciate your understanding and partnership, and we will keep this process as smooth as possible:

For tours already booked:

For Tourist in Your Town, and Squamish Canyon tours our Tour Manager will collect the $5.00 per person during the tour.

For tours not yet booked (July, August, and September): The additional $5.00 per person will be included in the advertised tour price.

We are very grateful for your continued support and collaboration, and we remain committed to delivering enjoyable and well-organized experiences for your members.

Why can seniors be at risk of identity theft?

Scammers count on you to not question what you're told

(NC) There are many reasons why fraudsters target seniors: a belief that they have accumulated savings, an assumption that they aren't familiar with the technology scammers use or taking advantage of the fact that many seniors are socially isolated and may not have support to help them spot a scam or push back. Identity theft is a priority for many fraudsters, since they can use that information to enrich themselves in a variety of ways. Here are a couple of the biggest threats to watch out for:

Someone can pose as your bank to get your information. This is a technique called “phishing,” and it's one of fraudsters' favourite tactics. It works by sending a communication that seems like it's from your bank or another institution you trust—this could be a phone call, email or text. They'll claim there's some issue you need to resolve quickly, like a missed payment. They may even accuse you of fraud or ask for help with a fraud investigation. The strategy is to create a sense of urgency or even panic so that you follow the included link to log in or give your information over the phone. When you do, it provides that information to the fraudster, who can use it to compromise your account to get money or even more of your identity.

Tax return scams are more popular than ever. Posing as the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) is a popular tactic of fraudsters for two reasons:

- People take their taxes seriously. Telling someone, especially a senior, who may be on a fixed income, that there's an issue with their tax return or benefits is an effective way to create panic.
- Tax information is valuable. If a fraudster can get you to give them access to your CRA account or your tax forms, they can use that information to steal your identity. To a scammer, your tax forms are a one-stop shop.

How can seniors protect themselves? There are digital security services that can help, at tax time and throughout the year. Using a tool like Telus Online Security can help protect your identity. It uses built-in device security that acts as a first line of defence against phishing attacks and scams, and can help you determine which messages are legitimate and which aren't. In the event that your identity is stolen, the service offers 24/7 access to support and identity theft specialists who can walk you through the recovery process.

It's important to be vigilant and trust your instincts. Scammers count on you not questioning what you're told, so question it. Ask yourself if any communication you receive makes sense. If all the emails you got from them in the past told you to log into your account directly, why does this one have a link to click?

The threat of identity theft has never been higher, but by protecting yourself and exercising caution and judgment, you can keep yourself safer.

Leave a Legacy

Giving Through Your Estate

Legacy Giving can change the lives of older adults not just now but in the future. At some point in our lives, we begin to think about the impact we will have on the world after we're gone. What will people remember about us? Have we left our community a better place than when we arrived? How can we ensure the things that are important to us to carry on?

Every day, donors just like you leave meaningful footprints on our world through legacy gifts. Thank you for considering the Langley Senior Resources Society in your estate planning. For more information on how to Leave a Legacy, contact our Executive Director Kate Ludlam at 604-530-3020 ext. 321, or by email: katel@lsrs.ca

Honour Someone Special

In Honour or Tribute giving:

An 'in honour' donation is a meaningful way to pay tribute to the life of a loved one and honour their legacy through a gift made in their name to the Langley Senior Resources Society. We can help supply donation forms for use at memorial services and Celebrations of Life and also provide the next-of-kin with a list of those who have made a gift.

The Hope Fund

Many seniors live on a fixed or limited income and may face difficulties when an unanticipated expense occurs. In some cases, a senior may need immediate short-term support to help them manage in the moment. We have witnessed many occasions where a vulnerable senior cannot afford to meet an urgent need which then puts their physical and mental well-being at risk.

Monthly Giving Donors

Consider Becoming a Monthly Donor

Monthly giving allows you to continue your support easily and make a difference year-round.

You only need to sign up once and can spread your donations out over the year, receiving one consolidated tax receipt in February. You are able to change or cancel your payments at any time!

Your monthly gifts also provide us with a consistent source of funding, allowing us to plan programs and initiatives with the comfort of knowing that we have a stable flow of donations. This helps us deliver the best programs and support we can to seniors in our community.

Other Sponsorship Opportunities

If you would like to sponsor a specific program or service or would like more information about any of these giving programs please contact our Community Fundraiser Bonnie McDonald. She can be reached by phone at 604-530-3020 ext. 323, or by email: bonniem@lsrs.ca.
